SUBJECT CIA Denies Anderson Allegations

GLORIA GIBSON: Published charges from columnist Jack Anderson brought denials today from the CIA.

The CIA said it was not weighing plans that could be used to assassinate Muammar Qaddafi. CIA spokesman Dale Peterson called such an allegation totally false.

In the meantime the Libyan leader arrived in Syria to meet with that country's president. They met privately before a meeting with Palestinian guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat. Reportedly the group talked about the air battle and developments in south Lebanon.

A leftist newspaper in Beirut says Qaddafi had proposed a special Arab summit meeting to talk about last week's Libyan planes [sic].

While Qaddafi was flaking, Iranian students were storming foreign embassies. In Brussels, police removed students occupying the Iranian embassy there. They were shouting death to Khomeini. They had burned pictures while inside.
